Location

Belval Campus → The new campus of the Faculty of Language and Literature, Humanities, Arts and Education is located in the Cité des Sciences on Belval, a former steel industry site in the South of Luxembourg.

The Cité des Sciences is not only housing the University of Luxembourg but is also home to numerous other research institutes and start-up companies. Eventually around 7,000 students and 3,000 people will work in this new hub for research and teaching. Belval, one of the largest and most ambitious current urban renewal projects in Europe, is located about 20 km from Luxembourg City, 3 km from Esch-sur-Alzette (the country's second largest town) and just 500 m from the French border. The huge site of 120 hectares brings together academic research and teaching, work and leisure, urban living and culture, thus making Belval an exciting place to work, study and live.

Luxembourg → Luxembourg is a small European country, surrounded by Belgium, France and Germany. It's mostly rural, with dense Ardennes forest and nature parks in the north, rocky gorges of the Mullerthal region in the east and the Moselle river valley in the southeast. Its capital, Luxembourg City, is famed for its fortified medieval old town perched on sheer cliffs.
