

6th Interdisciplinary Postgraduate Conference (IPC)

Thursday, 15th June 2017, 10:00 – 17:00

Aston University, Room MB549

10:00 - 10:20 Registration and coffee

10:20 - 10:30 Opening (Jack Grieve, Centre for Forensic Linguistics)

10:30-12:30 Panel 1

(chaired by Antonio Sergio, Politics and International Relations)

Kelly-Mae Saville (Sociology)

Stares, Sneers, and Short Stature: Mothers' Interactions in Public Spaces and the 'Society of the Spectacle'

Emily Carmody (Centre for Forensic Linguistics)

Moves and identity performance in child sexual abuse conversations

Amy Simmons (Sociology)

It's Only Mild! Hybridisation and Intra-Communal Stigma amongst Autistic Students in Further and Higher Education

Annie Heini (Centre for Forensic Linguistics)

Reciting and Explaining the Police Caution to 17- and 18-Year-Old Suspects in Investigative Interviews

12:30 - 13:30 Lunch break

13:30-15:00 Panel 2

(chaired by Luke John, Politics and International Relations)

Isobelle Clarke (Centre for Forensic Linguistics)

Dimensions of Twitter Trolling

Tasneema Amanee (Sociology)

Experiences of conducting fieldwork for Qualitative research: Learning process for a PhD student

Samia Yasmin (Centre for Critical Inquiry into Society and Culture)

Researching counterterrorism in the community

15:00 - 15:15 Coffee break

15:15-16:45 Panel 3

(chaired by Antonio Sergio, Politics and International Relations)

Katherine Osgood via Skype (Translation Studies)

Gender, Translation and a Complicated Marriage: The Travels and Translations of Lady Anne Blunt

Konstantinos Pilsiotis (Translation Studies)

(Re)shaping Greece through Translation: Nation and Identity in Tourism and Culture

Samar Chakraborty (Public Policy)

Labour Standard and Trade Union in Bangladesh

16:45 - 17:00 Closing (IPC 2017 Committee, Antonio and Luke)

17:00 Drinks and further discussion at Sacks of Potatoes